

Who: High school students interested in STEM

What: Join other students who are passionate about technology for a community hackathon. You'll build a new technology solution for a nonprofit, gain skills, and make new friends. No matter your skill level you're welcome at Devs Do Good. Meals will be provided, and students may earn Silver Cord hours.

Why: 100% of previous participants said they're very likely or somewhat likely to recommend the event to a friend or classmate and over 80% said it positively influenced their likelihood to pursue a career in technology.
